

Teresa Grange

Professoressa Ordinaria di Pedagogia Sperimentale. Università della Valle d'Aosta - Université de la Vallée d'Aoste.

t.grange@univda.it

Full professor of Experimental Pedagogy, she teaches Experimental Pedagogy, Programming and Evaluation, and General Didactics at the University of Valle d'Aosta - Université de la Vallée d'Aoste, where she has held academic positions as Dean of the Faculty of Education Sciences and Director of the Specialization School for Teacher Training in Secondary Schools. Currently, she is the Rector's Delegate for International Relations, holder of the Senghor Chair of Francophonie, and Vice President of the Conference of Rectors of the University Agency of Francophonie - Western Europe. Her research interests and numerous national and international publications mainly focus on the quality and equity of education, also with reference to sustainability, non-discrimination, and well-being in socio-educational contexts; she also directs the "Ouvertures Pédagogiques" series for EME - L'Harmattan editions, Brussels-Paris.